OVERVIEW

The largest city in England by area, Carlisle lies in the far northern corner of England, near the Scottish border, and is the urban capital of Cumbria and the beating heart of the Borderlands. A city linking two world heritage sites, Carlisle is a stone's throw from Hadrian's Wall, the northern frontier of a mighty empire that once covered the known world and the Lake District National Park where modern tourism was born, in the shimmering lakes and hushed mountains whose radiant beauty inspired poets and painters to turn nature into art. Explore dungeons and labyrinths at Carlisle's medieval castle, 900 -year-old cathedral and Cumbria's Museum of Military Life, all housed within the city's Historic Quarter. Britain's most impressive and important monument of Roman times, built by a force of 15,000 men in less than six years, it still evokes the feeling of standing on the edge of an empire.

Walk in the footsteps of the Romans and visit Birdoswald Roman Fort on Hadrian's Wall, next to one of the best-preserved sections of original Wall that stretches for nearly one mile to Gilsland. Enjoy the stunning far-reaching views over towards the Lake District Fells and take a moment to ponder life as one of the 1,000 Roman soldiers who lived there. Carlisle plays host to a packed calendar of events. Each Christmas the heart of the city is transformed into a winter wonderland with the annual Christmas Market. OVERVIEW

With its vibrant mix of top-notch eateries, historic landmarks, fascinating museums, lively theatres and exciting events, Lancaster is a city waiting to be explored by both individuals and groups. Its rich history spans thousands of years, best uncovered through a guided tour of Lancaster Castle or the city's historic streets.

Discover captivating exhibitions and collections at local museums that bring Lancaster's past to life. History weaves through the charming, cobbled lanes, where you'll find a coffee shop from 1837, a restaurant in a 300-year-old wine merchant's cellar, and Lancaster's oldest pub—dating to the 15th century and one of only two places in Britain with a gravity-fed cellar. The city also boasts a wide variety of independent cafés and restaurants, many offering group-friendly menus and specialist cuisine.

No matter when you visit, group organisers will find plenty of evening entertainment, from plays and musicals to live shows at The Dukes and the Grand Theatre. The Dukes' annual Play in the Park is a large-scale walkabout performance in Williamson Park and a summer highlight. Lancaster Arts at Lancaster University also presents theatre, dance, concerts, and exhibitions in its public gallery.

OVERVIEW

Perfectly placed half-way between Edinburgh and London and with the Yorkshire Dales, North York Moors and Wolds on the doorstep, York is unlike any other English city. Step into 2,000 years of history, from the ancient walls of Roman York to the Viking remains of Jorvik and the grandeur of Georgian York, offering more attractions per square mile than any other destination in the UK, you're never far from one of York's awe inspiring offerings.

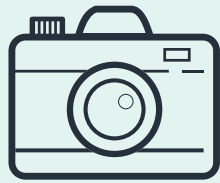

The Romans knew it as Eboracum and the Vikings called it Jorvik. There's the iconic York Minster and architecture from medieval times, its magnificent Georgian town houses and its Victorian railway station. Within its ancient, encircling walls, York's medieval streets and buildings are beautifully preserved in the historic heart of the city. Shambles is a must-visit, as one of the most recognised historic streets in England, often referred to as the best-preserved medieval street in Europe.

"The history of York is the history of England" (King George VI)
